DIAMOND CUT DIAMOND.

For the Ohio Democrat.

Messrs Editors.-In taking a squint at the Whig Truth teller, of N. Philadelphia last week, a production worthy of its most noble author, and signed "Broad run" exhibited the daring vildainy and reckless disregard for truth, which are the happy characteristics of a portion of that party whose position is so degraded, that all their claims must be sustained by fiendish slanders, and cutthreat assertions against men, who etand ton far above them in the scale of morality and respectability, to be reached by such milnigt ruffians, debauchees and drunkards.

The production hails from "Broad and the author calls himself s neighbor of Subastian Brainard. know too well, the citizene of that region, whether Whig or Democrat, to suppose that so much falsehood. gross falsehood, and malicious slander, should be cherished in that atmosphere. I am aware that whiggery, dyed in the wool, vegetates there most luxuriantly; but I am willing to mete out to them that justice which is due to their respectability for veracity and morality. Sebastian Brainard's neighbors on Broad run, are all respectable; and I feel satisfied that neither Mr. Brainard nor his neighbors, on Broad run, will be proud to acknowledge the base author of that production, as one of his or their neighbors. No! Messrs editors, that production hails from a grogshop, the author debauched, and his soul steeped in repeated bumpers of Alchohol, his countenance the whole man (or rather animal, if you please) presenting that disgusting appearance, as would mark him in the eye of every beholder, as a being, fashioned like a mso, but reduced to the lowest scale of saimal

The charge that Mr. Brainard became a Democrat, only when he got a bite at the Surplus Revenue, is false, as may be seen by refering to the period when the floating candidates for Repreanntative were to be nominated by the Damocratic convention. Mr. Brainard had then only located himself in our county, and he was appointed on one of the committees at that convention. Oh! Shame where is thy blush." Alas that Shame where is thy blush."
